

ascilite 2010 sydney

Welcome from the ascilite 2010 Organising Committee

The ascilite 2010 Organising Committee extends a very warm welcome to delegates to the ascilite International Conference. This is the 27th annual ascilite conference and is being held at the Novotel Sydney Brighton Beach and The University of Technology Sydney on 5-8 December 2010.

Ascilite has a long tradition in welcoming delegates from around the world to engage, share and discuss research and practitioner applications of innovative ideas with like minded people. The ascilite conference has a reputation for its friendliness and for the passion of its energetic community of practice. The 27th conference continues this energy and delegates will find a diverse range of keynotes, invited speakers, papers and workshops from some of the leading lights in the field.

As we look toward the next decade of rapid technological and global change, we need to consider how tertiary education will meet a range of challenges. Our conference theme and sub-themes provide the opportunity to consider these challenges in the context of the 'Curriculum, Technology & Transformation for an Unknown Future'. Ascilite 2010 is being jointly hosted by The University of Technology Sydney, The University of Queensland and Charles Sturt University.

We would like to thank all delegates for their commitment to sharing their expertise, knowledge and insights into curriculum and technology. We hope that all delegates will have an enjoyable conference experience and continue to participate in the ascilite community beyond the conference.

The organising committee would also like to acknowledge the generous support of our sponsors who continue to support ascilite on an ongoing basis.

We would also like to thank the organising committee, program committee, conference organisers and the ascilite executive for their input and time into the 2010 conference.

Mike Keppell, Caroline Steel, Simon Housego, Dominique Parrish, ascilite 2010 Organising Committee